Meteorologist's View

Very strong winds, particularly at height, will hamper progress.

Forecast for Monday 18 Dec 2023

Weather: Another cloudy day with heavy rain at first, this easing during the morning but light rain persisting into the afternoon. Drier into the evening with skies clearing for a time.

Maximum wind: Southwest 15-20 mph gusting 30-40 mph, easing through the day.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 10% improving to 80% during the evening.

Low cloud and visibility: Broken or overcast low cloud base 500-700m, lowering 400m at times, clearing during the evening to few base 700-800m. Visibility moderate or poor in rain and hill fog, improving to good into the evening.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 10 or 11 Celsius
 At 800m: Plus 6 to 8 Celsius
 Freezing level: Above summits

Ground Conditions Supplement

Date: Saturday 16 December Location: Helvellyn summit at 1117 Full report: A cloudy but largely dry day in the lakes with small amounts of precipitation and moderate winds. The majority of the Lakeland fells are now snow-free with just a few patches remaining above 750-800m in sheltered areas, and generally on north and east-facing aspects. Popular routes such as Striding and Swirral Edge are snow-free, however, a bank of snow remains on the popular Swirls path (which may be hard and icy with any overnight freezing). A similar day is expected tomorrow with potential for persistent rain and gale or near-gale-force winds (especially in the morning). Despite the recent relatively mild temperatures, the windchill (feels-like temperature) is often in the minus figures. Full winter clothing (waterproofs, extra warm layers, hat & gloves), a map, compass, and headtorch are all essential. Temperature: plus 4.8 C, Maximum wind speed 26.5 mph, Wind chill: minus 1.8 C, Average wind speed: 19.1 mph.
